

Untitled Cyber Poppins Game Intro

FADE IN:

EXT. HIGH-RISE COMPLEX - DUSK

In the midst of tall structures under a hazy light, stands a silhouette, clad in black, upon one of the many thin bridges.

CUT TO:

THE BRIDGE

The face of the SHADOWY FIGURE is shown, staring out idly into the distance, suddenly something in his view grabs his attention.

SHADOWY FIGURE

That...? Here? I need to tell the others!

Right as he is about to take off, he is interrupted by a robotic voice.

SENTRY

Citizen 44801, halt and submit to a scan immediately!

The sentry approaches him, who stands there motionless, and begins to scan with its one crimson eye.

SENTRY

Citizen 44801, you have been found guilty of feeling surprise, hope, joy, and fear. You will now be taken to Utopia, do not resist.

The sentry begins escorting him towards an unfamiliar direction. Just barely overcoming his shock, he realizes that he must do something. He did not know anything about Utopia, only that the ones that are taken there return as evolved versions of themselves. Yet in his heart that felt wrong to him, but only for the first time ever.

CITIZEN 44801

What is going to happen to me?

SENTRY

Do not resist.

As they continue walking he feels a concealed object in his jacket, it is his umbrella. He feels confusion, why would his hand reach for it? He carried it always and everywhere. But it was his grandfather's umbrella. A relic and a reminder of the older times, the times before The Great Reset. He takes out the umbrella and stands in his tracks and turns to face the sentry.

SENTRY

Do not resist.

CITIZEN 44801

You are not messing with my head!

He did not know where that came from, and he immediately opened the umbrella and jumped off the bridge. The sentry fired a shot at him, but it deflected off the umbrella and down into the industrial abyss. The citizen continued gliding down into a lower bridge as sirens blared in the distance. He feels excitement. He knows where to go, but the path is long ahead.

(Beginning of gameplay.)